Yoga Bananas® would like all graduates of The Yoga Bananas® Technique to maintain the highest standards of personal and organisational performance. Children are entitled, and increasingly expect, to receive high quality teaching from high quality and qualified teachers. A failure to adhere to these expectations can significantly affect their view of the world and of those in authority. It is therefore insufficient to focus solely on the integrity of your teaching content. It is essential also to consider the integrity and behaviour of your stance as a mentor.

It is increasingly likely that a failure to maintain professional, fair and empathetic standards could result in the downgrading of your reputation as a teacher and the reputation of the Yoga Bananas® Technique, rendering it difficult to connect with the local community and hampering professional progress.

The teaching values of Yoga Bananas® are:

- Teach Children Equally
- Treat Children with Respect
- Allow the Children the Freedom to Voice

As a graduate of the Yoga Bananas® Technique your professional activity in the world of children's yoga and teaching should be clearly linked to these values. You are expected to regularly read the section in your manual 'Being A Teacher' to help you achieve good standards of teaching practice.

I would like to wish you the best of luck in your endeavours and I am here to support you and help you fulfil the code of conduct to the best of my ability.
